

File Sharing with Windows XP

Creating a Shared Folder

Follow this process to share a folder using Windows XP:

- Navigate to the folder containing you music files.
- Right click the folder.
- Choose Sharing and Security. (See Figure 1.)
- Select Share this folder. (See Figure 2.)
- In the same window, choose Permissions. (See Figure 2.)
- Allow Everyone to Read only. (See Figure 3.)
- Click Apply and then OK to save these settings.
- Do the same in the Folder Properties window. (Apply, OK)

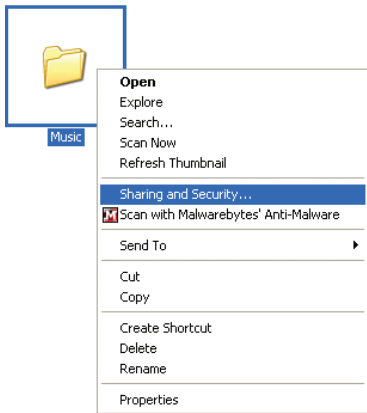

Figure 1: Choose 'Sharing and Security...'

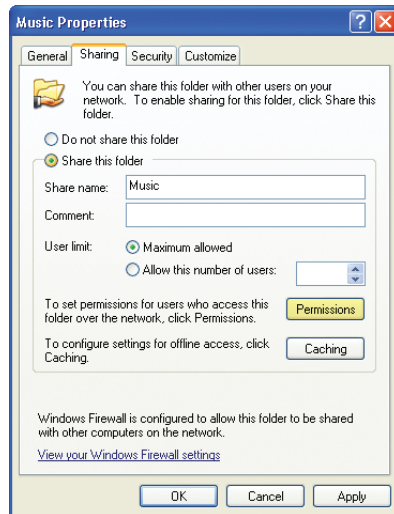

Figure 2: Select 'Share this folder' – choose 'Permissions'

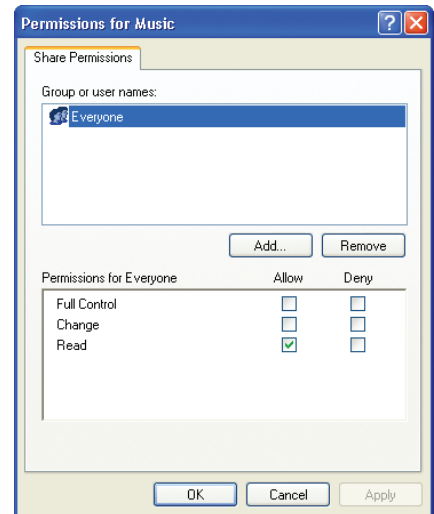

Figure 3: Set 'Everyone' to 'Read' only

Obtaining Local Network Information

You will need to obtain information about your computer and your local network.

- Press Start.
- Choose Control Panel.
- Choose System.
- Click the Computer Name tab.
- Your domain and information about your computer will be listed here. (See Figure 4.)
- Use the Network Identification Wizard to join a domain, if one is not listed.
- Remember your Computer Description and Domain.

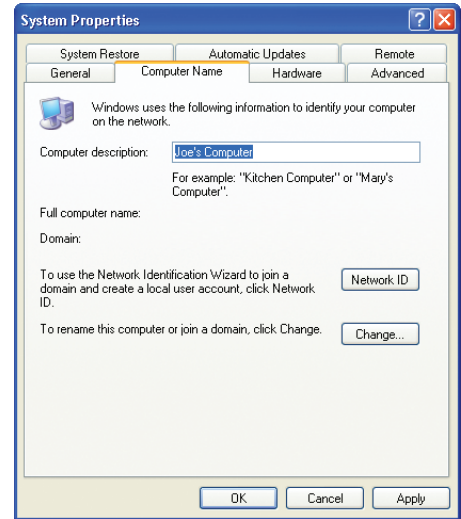

Figure 4: 'System Properties' Window showing 'Computer Name'

Configuring the Networks Global Audio System

If your computer requires a password, you need to configure the Networks so it knows your username and password.

- While in Music Player Mode, press and hold menu/select until the menu come on the screen.
- Choose MP Setup.
- Choose PC Settings.
- Choose Username and enter your username (case sensitive).
- Choose Password and enter your password (case sensitive).

Once you have entered your username and password, you should be able to connect. Continue with the following steps to find and access your files.

- Press Source.
- Choose Music Player.
- Choose Shared Folders.
- Choose your local network's domain name.
- Once you select a Domain, all available PCs on the Domain will be displayed.
- Select your PC.
- Choose the folder you set to share. All files and subfolders will be listed.